Testimonial – McArthur Dean Training Ltd

We have been working with McArthur Dean Training Ltd for approximately 5 years and more recently in particular with the recruitment of apprentices following the introduction of the Apprenticeship Levy. McArthur Dean has become an integral part of our support to Turner Price employee learning. Simply put, they help us deliver our commitments to enhancing the development of our staff every day.

It was essential to us that we selected a partner, who not only understood that commitment but was able to frame it in such a way that the training can be delivered flexibly, to accommodate the needs of a highly rostered and 24/7 operational workforce. The support and guidance they give to our learners and also to managers is invaluable and it is readily apparent how and where the value of their services is being added.

As you would expect from a top quality training provider, they are excellent at tailoring their approach to recognise the needs of various learning styles and needs, which makes the training much more accessible and impactful. They are always willing to ensure that no question is left unanswered and that uncertainties are addressed in a friendly and professional manner, which is greatly to our advantage.

This is reflected in their overall approach, which ensures that any requests for further support or guidance are dealt with swiftly and effectively. They are fully conversant with the requirements of the Apprenticeship Levy and I can always rely on their thorough knowledge and expertise.

Overall, we could not wish for a better, nor more effective training provider. They have successfully embedded themselves within our organisation as a highly trustworthy and effective partner. They deliver our promises to our workforce by delivering high quality communication and a clear commitment to ensure they are creating the conditions for our continued success and the growth and development of our employees. I would recommend them highly to potential clients.
